Designs for dated dilemmas
Our Plymouth Meeting clients had long dreamed of updating their home's '80s style, building a bespoke office, and improving the kitchen's impractical layout, which made it difficult to entertain, cook, and clean. From taking down walls and moving appliances to dramatically changing colors and surfaces, the Custom Craft team worked closely with these homeowners to create a home that suits them perfectly.

Plymouth Meeting Paradise

A fresh new look and layout

Updated & Ultra-Accessible

Crafting a fresh and functional first floor

Function reigns in the new kitchen, with a layout that feels natural and is easy to navigate while cooking. Guests help themselves to a drink in the new beverage area, while cans and bottles are no longer taking up room in the main refrigerator. Accenting the gorgeous farmhouse sink is a unique, articulating faucet — as stunning as it is practical.

The office has a polished and refined style with bold, rich tones, shiplap walls, and solid wood accents. The couple can work by the warmth of the cozy fireplace, flanked by built-in shelves and cabinets perfect for storing games, books, and more.

Once a mostly unused space, the upgraded mudroom is now a central hub with lots of storage, grab-and-go coat hooks, and a beautiful bench perfect for slipping on shoes.

Perfectly Pleasing Pantry

Storage can be beautiful

This home had several game-changing upgrades, but the expanded pantry stands out as one of the most delightful. What used to be a small storage area has been transformed into a walk-in wonder. Built-in cabinets provide abundant storage for all cooking and baking supplies, and thick, sturdy, open shelves keep canisters and kitchen essentials organized and uncluttered. The same cherrywood shelving used can also be found in the mudroom, kitchen, and the fireplace mantel in the office.

Design Trends

Make a statement with contrasting colors

Contrasting colors might sound like a bold choice, but when used effectively, they can breathe life into your living spaces and create a captivating atmosphere. In our featured project, contrasting colors can be found throughout the home — from surfaces in the mudroom to the kitchen cabinets. This effect creates wonderful visual interest and a moody aesthetic that feels equal parts striking and soothing.
